LIONS DEN 1983

Henderson High School
Henderson, Texas

Behind The Lines

For every group on campus, there are many supporters behind them. These groups practice, drill, rehearse, plan, attend, and perform to boost spirit and morale in our pride of Lions.

The colorful, performing groups like the cheerleaders, drill team, pep squad and band spend many hours — mostly after school — polishing and perfecting cheers, kicks, chants and routines.

Other groups led by the Student Council plan special events, take care of concession stands and give rousing encouragement to the Lions.

It doesn't matter if the contest is athletic, scholastic, team or individual, we are all Lions, and we are all behind each other.

Cheerleaders huddle to decide the weekly winner of the Spirit Stick. Linda Linthicum, head cheerleader, makes each announcement as full of suspense as possible.

The drill teams add color and pageantry to the pep rallies and games

Pep Squad members arrive long before the fans to set up and get prepared for the pre-game activities.

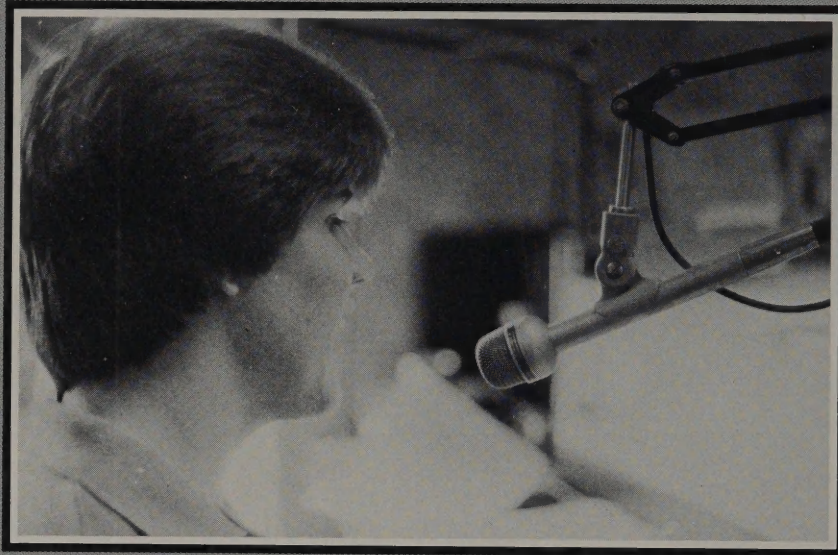

Audrey Burks is holding a life-sized lion which is a real spirit booster at the pep rallies.

The student body, whether it be pep squad, drill team, fans, cheerleaders, band, or football team, is the backbone of team support.

Terry Schauwecker completes her fourth year as a high school cheerleader which makes her the first in years. Thanks for four years of dedication, service and plain old hard work.

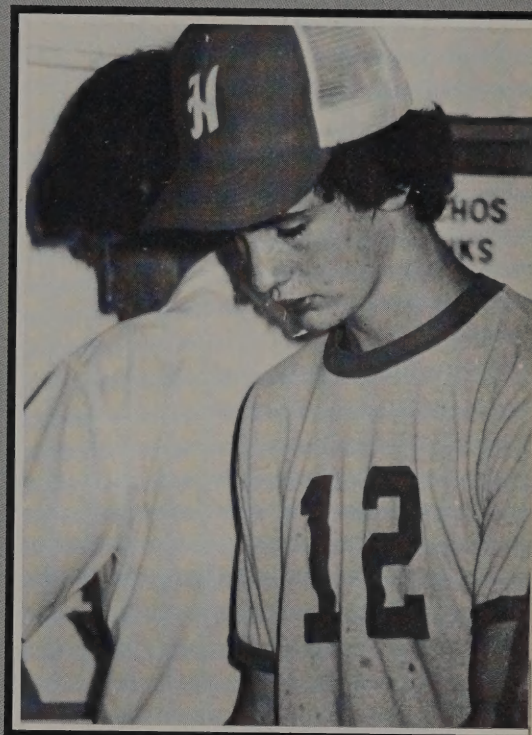

A microphone is no stranger to Burke Brack, but this time he's playing radio announcer instead of singing.

Test Question: Who is acting normal in this picture? (a) Tracy Austin (b) Toby Moon (c) Ricky Ford (d) Terry Wallace

Cindi Sommerville, band sweetheart and co-drum major, looks a lot different at half-time.

Michael Goode takes his turn at working the FFA concession stand at the home football games.

The lineup. It may be painful, but it's not a crime to wait in line to have a school picture made.

Christie Claxton opts for "brown bagging it" and includes healthful grapes in her menu.

Kerrie Channel enjoys an "All-American" favorite — pizza. Maybe Americans didn't invent it, but they sure consume it.

Orders to go are an important part of teenagers' lifestyle. Not only is the pace hectic, but actually, some can't stand to leave their cars.

Ann Sanders chooses to get her lunch out of the vending machines. It must have been manager's choice in the cafeteria

Chow Line

Teenagers are often accused of having bottomless pits for stomachs, and the accusation isn't far off.

Junk foods in countless varieties are the staples of our diets. Give us tacos, pizza, hamburgers, french fries, chips, candy bars along with gallons of soft drinks, and we consider ourselves well-fed.

Whether it is lunch at school (required by a closed campus), afternoon snacks on the highway, or dinner at home, as long as we're fed frequently (every hour on the hour), we're easier to live with.

The snack line is a popular spot in the cafeteria where students can choose from a variety including pizza, corny dogs, and frito pie. How these ladies prepare enough food to fill up 1004 teenagers is impossible to imagine.

Karen Belcher takes Jo Nan Morris's order to McDonald's which opened on Hwy. 79 this year. Henderson is finally on the map.

Doug Konchek and Wesley Goode are all smiles even though John Polk is the only one with the money.

Susan Cassity and Adrienne Stover proof-read advertisements before going on the air during the Band Radio Day at KGRI

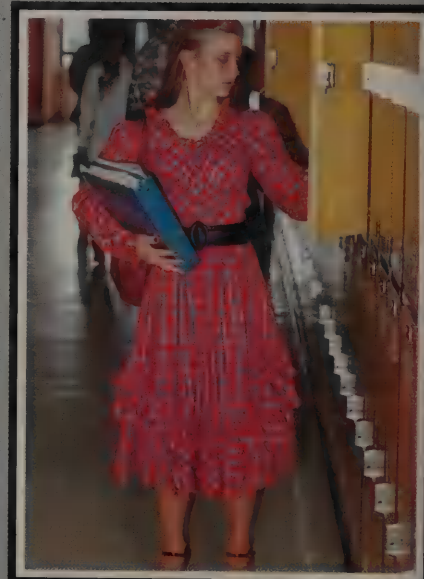

The back of the band comes through loud and clear.

Friday's could be called "Group Identification Day" as students wear shirts and uniforms identifying them with their organization. Great business for T-shirts shops around town.

Debbie Forsythe in her Jordache shirt and Jean Engle in her Polo shirt are only two examples of the designer labels that were attached to many students' fashions.

Angela Enloe wears a ruffled shirt that was basic to most girls' wardrobes this season.

Knickers were still fashionable this year with Amy Hall and Andrett Ladson.

Joe Walker sports an imported, richly-embroidered Mexican dress that showed up on campus this year.

Clothes Line

"To each his own" has been the motto for each generation with its choice of fashions. Our generation has taken this as a slogan for the individual because anything goes.

What went this year for girls were ruffles, ruffles, ruffles everywhere — on shirts, skirts, hems, sleeves, collars — anywhere. Tucked tuxedo shirts and slacks with cumberbunds hit Henderson this year too.

Guys and girls both continued to be label crazy with Polo nudging out Izod as the top status symbol on shirts. The trick this year was to find a shirt, skirt, sweater, or pair of jeans without some kind of insignia.

Foot fashions saw some old style revivals with ballerina shoes, flats, penny loafers, and topsiders. The dependable boots and tennis shoes have stayed and stayed and stayed.

Mini-skirts (longer than those of the '70's) showed up again, and sweater dresses made a brief showing.

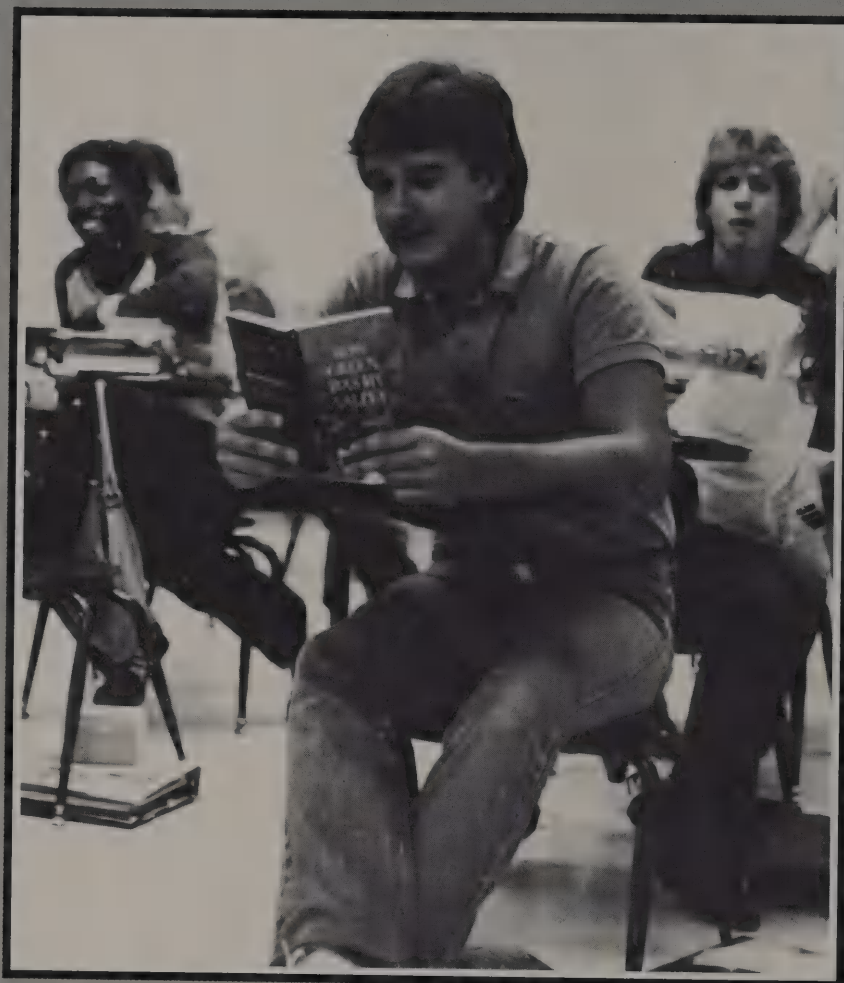

The main characteristic of fashion this year was that everyone was in style in anything — "To each his own."

Boots, topsiders, ballerinas and the ever-popular tennis shoes were foot fashions of this year.

Tangela Gates wears a mini shirt and Jackie Runnels sports a sweater dress and leg warmers.

Chris Terry gets his first taste of senior outside reading selections with How Green Was My Valley.

Dawn McRae admires Angela Lutz's homecoming mum that was sold by the Band Boosters.

Cindy Green, Scott Whitehead and Jed Davis give the beat that keeps the pep rallies jumping.

Carol Gillis, Karen Hall and Yvette Roquemore are all dolled up for their class pictures.

Sally Parker and Cathy Cain punk it up during the Student Council sponsored Spirit Week.

Melanie Crim and her escort, Scott Snelgrove, are all decked out for the pre-game homecoming court presentation.

Patrick Pollard altered his normal dress code for Punk Rock Day.

Jed Davis won second place on Bandana Day for his colorful scarves and first place on Punk Rock Day for his attire.

Supporting The Lions

We call ourselves a pride of lions, and we are proud of the support we give each other.

A week-long special event this year was Spirit Week directed by the Student Council. It was a fun-filled time of activity that everyone could get involved in.

One project was the class lions where each student signed to show his class's support of the team. The Student Council also planned Red and Blue Day when everyone was to wear school colors.

Bandana Day had students and faculty tied up with bandanas everywhere. Lion Day was a challenge to see who could attach the most Lions to himself.

The hit of the week had to be Punk Rock Day which made one think we were having a Halloween Carnival. Even the faculty joined in (after they found out what "punk" was), and some pretty outlandish costumes were worn. There was everything from plastic trash bags cinched with gold belts to multi-colored Nikes. The more adventuresome sprayed their hair in a wide array of colors.

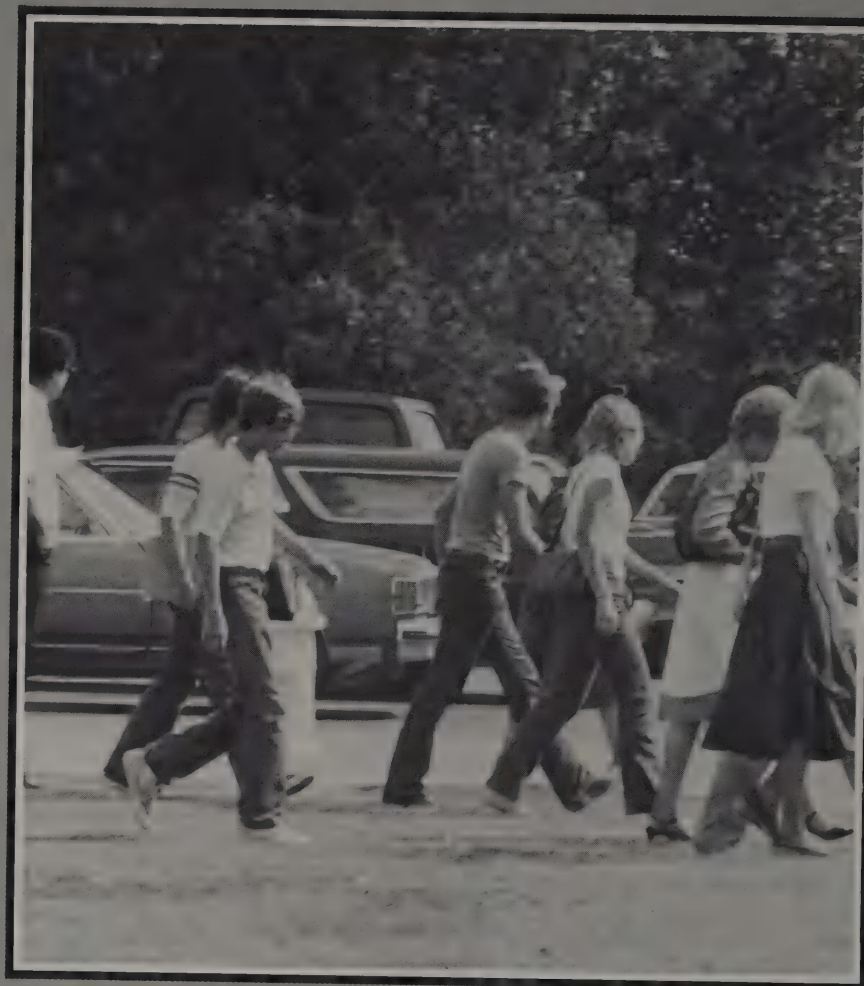

The Homecoming Pep Rally ended the school day, but many stayed on for the car parade through downtown.

The entire week built up to the Homecoming Game which climaxed the week with a 21-0 victory for the Lions.

Lions, lions, lions cover Derinda Brooks who was a strong contender for the most lions on Lion Day.

Many of these balloons were floating downtown after the car parade that followed the Homecoming Pep Rally.

It's Friday. The pep rally is over. The weekend is beginning. YEA!

Some wintry mornings fog enshrouds the school providing an eerie welcome.

Presiding over the Thesians Troupe is Tonya Deck who gets plans underway for the year.

Joe Hudson Dedicatee

Any teacher who can wear a mini skirt left over from the seventies, attach 27 lion emblems to herself, then sit in the hall in a snug sack covered with lions deserves something.

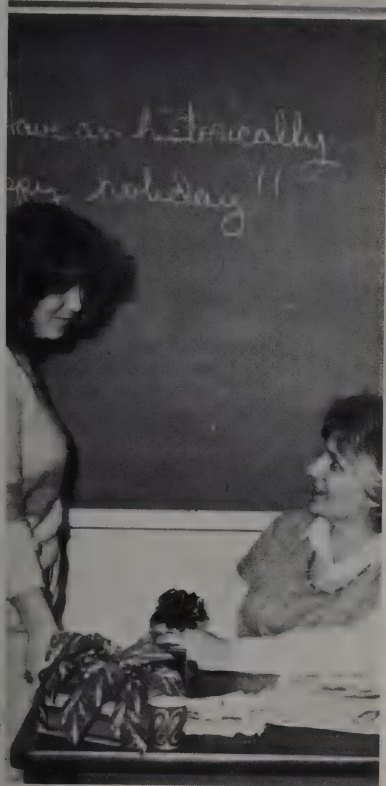

Even before she did this, the annual staff decided to dedicate this volume of the Lions Den to Miss Joe Hudson for her evident school spirit. Her enthusiasm is obvious since she was also voted as having the most school spirit by the seniors in a fun faculty Hi-Life Poll.

A familiar face at sporting events, Miss Hudson is not content to be merely a spectator. This year she supervised the construction of a gigantic spirit sign placed on Hwy 64 for the football team to see as they were on their way to the bi-district playoffs.

Miss Hudson teaches a variety of social studies courses from world history to sociology, depending on her schedule. She supports her students in the classroom as well as on the playing field and is always quick to give compliments, encouragement and good constructive criticism.

Whether in or out of class she is always there with a smile and cheerful word. So it is with respect and sincerity that we say — Miss Hudson, we think you are Top of the Line.

People

Big people, little people, tall people, short people, dark people, light people, adult people, student people, bright people, not-so bright people — there are all kinds of people that walk the halls here, and this variety is what makes the school have its own personality.

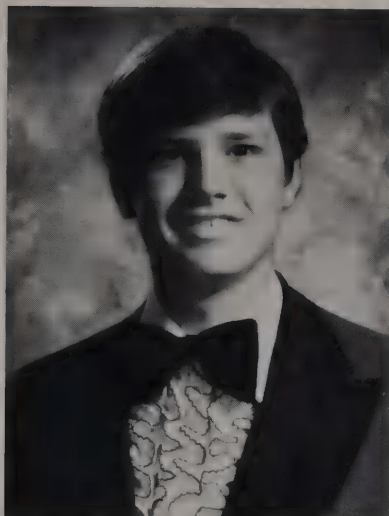

One special group of people this year is the Seniors. (Aren't Seniors always special?) They are the first class to be graduated after walking the halls of the new high school for four years. The building opened back in 1979 when they entered as freshmen. They are the first of a long line of graduates who will have attended classes here for four years and discovered they are special people.

New Building Loses First 4-Year Class

As the graduating class looks back over the past four years in school it is with great pride and a great sense of accomplishment. This is the first class to have walked the halls of the new high school for four straight years.

The Class of '83 with 238 enrolled has been characterized by a feeling of unity which has resulted in a special group personality. This attitude, noticed by other students and faculty alike, has improved with age.

Each classmate adds his own special touch to the class and has made it the greatest ever. That's why seniors yell with pride, "We're the best as you can see Senior Class of '83."

Jackie Lary gets an early start by practicing per squad routines in the summer.

Teamwork Pays Off

Working together as a team, the administrators led by Principal A. Gene Smith take care of about 1000 students and 100 adults.

Mr. Smith directs the overall activities of the campus including policy decisions. This year he was instrumental in revamping the honor graduate system which will go into effect next year.

Mr. Cliff Harkless has the responsibility of dealing with the parents and students in matters of attendance and discipline.

New to the campus this year, Ms. Pat McFerrin works with the teachers in the area of curriculum and education. She takes those last minute phone calls for substitutes.

Another new face in the office is Mr. Joel Hale who was a former teacher and coach at the high school. Mr. Hale works with the SOS students and teachers.

All four administrators working together show that teamwork makes a campus this size run more smoothly.

Sports

All Lion teams are top of the line in dedication, participation, and attitude regardless of the win-loss tally at the end of the season.

Varsity football Lions made it to the area playoffs this year after winning Bi-District and tying for District. These were the first playoff games for the Lions in 9 years.

Basketball season is one of the busiest times of the year with 3 girls' teams and 3 boys' teams each having at least 2 games weekly.

Spring sports such as basketball, track, tennis, and golf hardly get uniforms issued before the annual's final deadline. Even though their coverage is skimpy because they come at the end of the line of the sports' season, their performance is always top of the line.

Lions Go to Area Game

Two trips to Mesquite Stadium climaxed the football season with the Lions losing out on the last outing to McKinney in the area playoffs.

The Lions made it to area by tying for the District championship for the third consecutive year. This time Carthage shared the title, and they were the only District team to defeat the Lions in a 7-6 heartbreaker.

Bi-District playoffs had a new twist this year with two teams getting to advance from each district. The Lions played Paris in Mesquite and defeated them 32-14 to advance to Area. This year's team was the first one in nine years to make it to the playoffs.

Head Coach Jimmy Watson, named Co-Coach of the District, attributed the team's success to the senior class, the coaching staff, the players, and parents. He said the leadership of the senior class made this team. Wrapping up the season, Coach Watson said, "They played with heart, love, and determination. I'm so proud of them."

Doug Konchek catches a pass for another TD.

Boys Make It to Playoffs

A playoff defeat from Palestine ended the Lions district season giving them a third place slot for the year. Both the Lions and the Wildcats had lost four games each and were forced into a tie-breaker in the Robert E. Lee gym in Tyler.

The Lions won eight district games under the leadership of new Head Coach Brooks Dozier. They took third place in the FCA tournament which made this the first year for them not to win it.

Leading the Lions in scoring was Collin Wade with 491 points.

Clifton Thurmond goes up for an extra two points.

Coach Dozier patiently awaits the outcome of the Jacksonville game.

Girls Split Wins, Losses

The Lady Lions took half the season ending up with a 12-12 record, and they finished district play with a 4-8 tally. Senior Linda Linthicum led the team this season with a total of 298 points to boost the team to their victories. Another senior, Yolanda Duffie, contributed 171 points to the team's scoring. These were the only seniors on the team, and this shortage of experienced leadership was a factor in the number of games won. The Junior Varsity only lost one district game to tie for the district co-championship. The ninth grade team finished a perfect season with no defeats to earn them the district championship.

Claudia Hale Named Queen

Claudia Hale was named Homecoming Queen in pre-game ceremonies that climaxed a week of spirit-filled activities at school.

Using the theme "Broadway Lions," the court was presented in front of a top hat and cane prop surrounded by the band, pep squad, drill team and cheerleaders.

Show tunes filled the stadium as the student-elected court and their escorts were presented. Susan Minton, student council president, and Linda Linthicum, last year's queen, shared the honors of crowning Claudia.

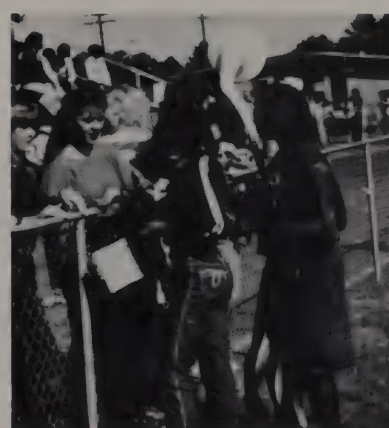

Elected by the student body to serve on the homecoming court were Cassandra Glaspie, Peggy Smith, Melanie Crim, Claudia Hale, Jan McDonald, Andrett Ladson, Veita McCoy, Tangela Gates and Susan Baker. Escorts are Lewis Anthony, Joe Polk, Scott Snelgrove, John McCarter, Michael Goode, Everett Medford, Fred Childers, Rodrick Pollard, and Michael Baker.

Senior Class Selects Annual Hi-Life Poll

Each year the Hi-Life, the school newspaper, takes a poll of the Senior Class to see who they think is Most Likely to Succeed, Friendliest, Most Athletic, Most Studious, Wittiest, Neatest, Cutest, Best Dancer and who has the Most School Spirit. A boy and a girl are selected for each category, and with such a large senior class, it makes the selections rather hard. But these students stand out in the category they were chosen for.

Organizations

Organizations are the spice in a school day. The thought of spending six periods a day, every day, in class, with no variety is enough to make a student turn off the alarm, crawl back in bed, and stay there.

The many groups on campus plan activities that are fun, entertaining, worthwhile, and as a bonus — educational too. Not all learning comes from a textbook.

Activities sponsored by these groups — pep rallies, band trips, talent shows, Christmas parties, Valentine post office, Christmas greetings, can food drives, candy sales — make the day worth getting up for.

Band Wins Sweepstakes

Marching, practicing, fund raising, practicing, playing, practicing, and more practicing filled the year for the band, the largest organization in high school.

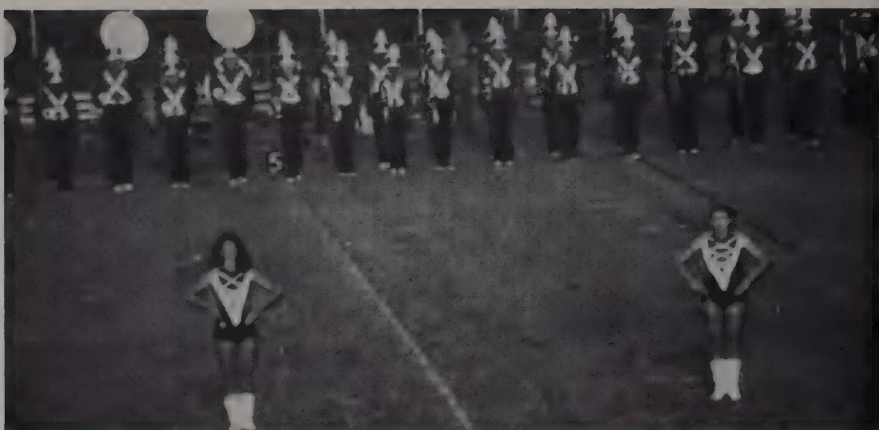

All that practicing paid off when the band won Sweepstakes at the UIL marching contest in Rose Stadium in Tyler.

Backed by a strong Booster Club, the group raised money for a spring trip to Washington, D.C. by sponsoring a radio day on KGRI, holding a car wash at Wal-Mart and selling a variety of novelty items.

Characterized by a strong feeling of group loyalty, this organization proves it will do whatever necessary to make it top of the line.

Band members work hard to make their performances outstanding.

Mr. Ronnie Ferguson makes the band what it is by devoting his time and effort.

The hall band leads the students to the pep rally.

Laura Smith, Cindi Somerville, and Glenda Hughes wait to perform another routine.

The twirlers lead the band to award winning achievements.

Co-Drum Majors Lead Big Band

For the first time in many years the band was led on the field by a duet of drum majors. Cindi Somerville and Susan Minton co-drum majors, shared the joint responsibility of student leadership.

Working with a front line of 12 twirlers paid off as all these girls received recognition for their hours of summer and after school practice.

Entering solo and ensemble contests, the twirlers brought home a total of 14 medals. Three outstanding medals were won in camp during the summer activities which combined fun with a lot of hard work.

Pressure is upon the twirlers not only on the field on Friday nights but also in everyday practice.

Co-Drum Majors Cindi Somerville, and Susan Minton add more excitement to Friday night half-time.

Pop! Swirl. Pop! Swirl. Pop! Those pops of the flags snapping through the air happen only after hours of practice.

Flag corps members went to camp this summer to improve their techniques and learn routines.

The group entertained the student body during the senior pep rally when they dressed like "Happy Days" cast members and boogied to "No Name Boogie."

Half-time performances were enlivened by the addition of these girls parading with their colorful banners.

Gina Gillis prays that she will remember what comes next.

Band Wins Many Events

Contests are an important part of the band's activities because they offer both group and individual recognition.

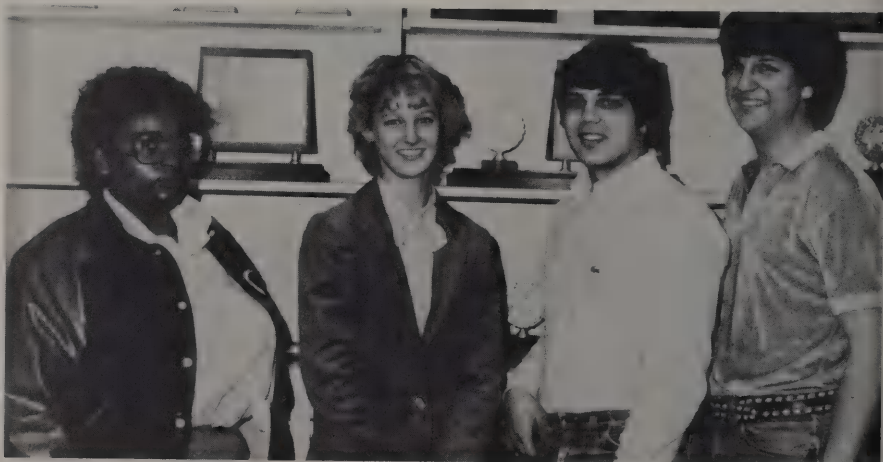

The band won Sweepstakes at marching contest, placed 26 people in the All-Region band and four in All-Area. In addition, many medals were won in UIL Solo and Ensemble contest.

Through these contests, the individual has the opportunity to stand out from the group by perfecting his own abilities.

All-Area Band members are Ellen Christopher, Sherri Blair, Robert Shipp, David Cowee.

All-State Choir members are Burke Brack and Rae Ludwig.

Two Make All-State

Placing two students in the All-State Choir was one of the major accomplishments of the choir this year. Burke Brack, tenor, and Rae Ludwig, alto, earned a spot in that select group.

Nine other students sang their way into All-Area positions out of the seventeen that placed in All-Region.

UIL contests gave individuals and small groups an opportunity to be judged on their ability.

Mark Wilkerson, Jerry Newman, Burke Brack, Tom Vandergriff, Kevin Roper, Meredith Stafford.

Choirs Entertain, Compete

Entertaining the public and competing at contests keep members of all four choirs busy the entire year.

Many afternoons of after school practice are spent preparing for contests including All-

Region, and solo and ensemble for individuals. Each choir competes as a unit in UIL competition.

In addition, daily class practices help get together those entertaining programs given throughout the community.

Concert choir, composed of juniors and seniors, represent the school in UIL competition.

A small performing group, the Choraliers, perform for civic groups and banquets.

Robert Shipp, Burke Brack, and Gina Gillis bundle up for the outdoor singing session.

motional Saturday. This freshman group trains singers for Concert Choir.

The Acapella choir, made up of girls, sings in four part harmony without accompaniment.

These freshmen get their first opportunity to perform for the student body at the annual Christmas concert.

Patti Wilder, Audrey Burks, and Rae Marie Ludwig carol to the customers in Sound Spectrum.

Girls Boost School Spirit

Nine energetic girls boosted the student body spirit this year with every zany activity they could devise.

From a dance routine to "Pac-Man Fever" (twice — due to electrical troubles) to dressing up in Halloween costumes, the cheerleaders spared no effort in building school spirit.

Beginning in August with camp, all the girls spent a great deal of time, effort, and creativity in leading the student body.

The cheerleaders, with award winning spirit, worked hard to support the Lions.

"S" stands for spirit and the cheerleaders have it and show it with this pom-pom routine.

Sideline for a few minutes, these girls boost the spirit of all performing groups.

Linda Linthicum, head cheerleader, seldom seen still, waits for her cue in the pep rally.

Drill Team Entertains

Entertaining the crowd during half time or dancing in the pep rallies, the Lions Pride Drill Team is always trying to show school spirit.

After a slow beginning at the Hallsville game, the line improved throughout the football season.

In addition, the Drill Team brightened the pep rallies with their performance of 'At The Hop,' and also by recruiting a new line of football guys for the senior pep rally.

Officers have the music in them as they line up for this routine.

Practice makes perfect, lots of practice, as the girls have after school workouts each day.

Drill Team members go to the hop. This performance won the group two trophies at camp.

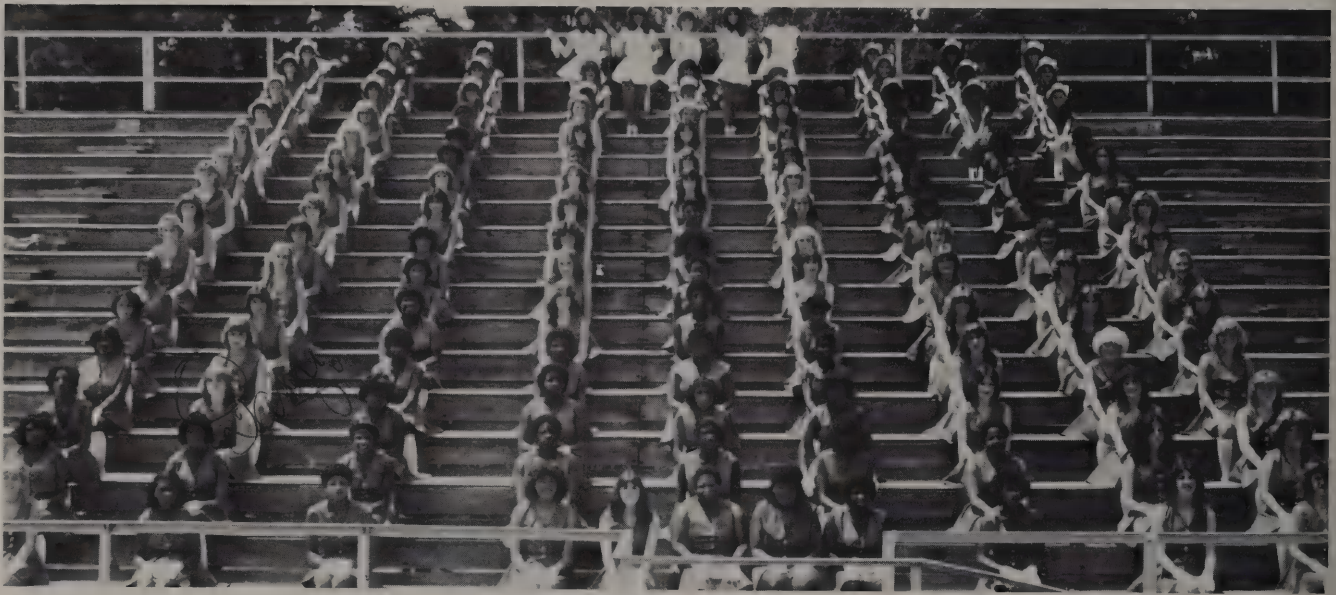

An impressive line of 25 girls and 5 officers using hoops, flashgloves, pompons and special costumes provided a variety of entertainment.

This year a Booster Club was also formed to work with the group.

Natalie Vincent, pres. and Leigh Haynes, vice pres. keep the Pep Squad in order at the Homecoming game.

One of the largest Pep Squads in the district makes a lot of noise for their team.

Riding through downtown in the car parade were Pep Squaders from every class.

Pep Squad Loyal Group

Backing the Lions 100 percent were 158 girls who showed their loyalty by participation in every game, pep rally, and school activity.

During the summer, the girls practiced to learn various chants and cheers for the upcoming season. Along with cheers, they learned how to form the victory lines that greeted the players before each game.

Organizing this large group were their sponsors Mrs. Tammy Massengale and Miss Lisa Commons. The girls also elected a president, vice president, row captains, and spirit leaders to teach and guide them.

Red and blue pompons, Pep Squad T-shirts, spirit ribbons, buttons, and a lot of spirit make a Pep Squad girl easy to spot.

Freshman girls try to get it together for their first year on the squad.

The football games wouldn't be the same without the constant spirit of the Pep Squad.

Pep Squad Chooses Leaders, Honors

Leigh Haynes was named Miss Pep Squad and Ken Tillison was chosen Mr. Athlete by popular vote of the Pep Squad. These honors are given yearly to deserving seniors who have shown exceptional spirit and athletic abilities.

Leigh has been in the Pep Squad four years and served as vice president her senior year. Ken played tight end for the Lions this year and was named to the All-District second team.

Row captains, spirit leaders and officers are chosen by the girls to coordinate their performances. These leaders supervise the group and have the extra responsibility of keeping the group in line.

These fourteen girls kept the spirit up and the rows in order as spirit leaders and row captains.

Mrs. Tammy Massengale presented gifts from the pep squad to Ken Tillison, Mr. Athlete, and Leigh Haynes, Miss Pep Squad.

The officers of the pep squad are Natalie Vincent, pres; Leigh Haynes, vice pres; Susan Ross, sec; Angelee Flanagan, treas; and Janna Weatherford, rep.

The Thespians may seem like they are having fun, but many hours of work are behind this so-called fun.

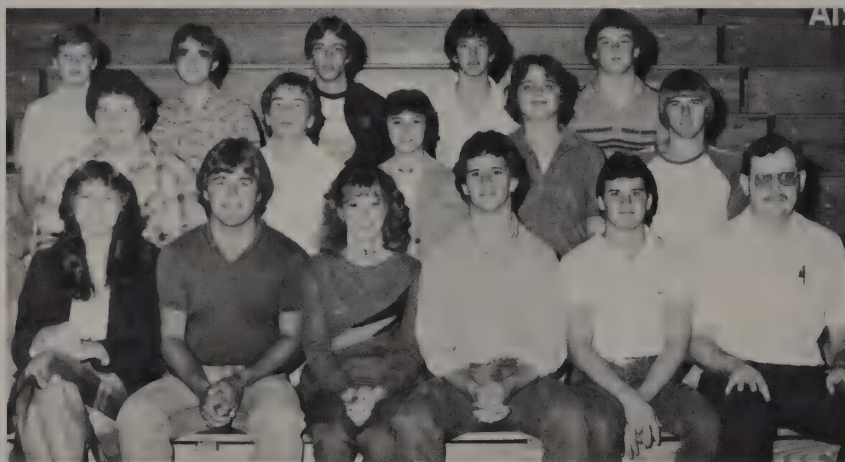

Industrial Arts Club Has Meetings

The Industrial Arts Club is affiliated with a national and state organization of those interested in drafting and other industrial-related skills. The club entered the state drafting competition at Texas A&M.

Club members receive state and national newsletters that keep them informed of activities of other groups.

This year the club decorated a car for their sweetheart to ride in the Christmas parade. They also had a Christmas party.

The organization had a candy sale this year. Part of the money earned from this goes toward preparations for the annual Employee and Employer Banquet.

HERO sponsored a Teacher Appreciation Week. They also honored their adopted grandparents which they selected from each nursing home.

The rest is used to pay the expense to the area and state meetings.

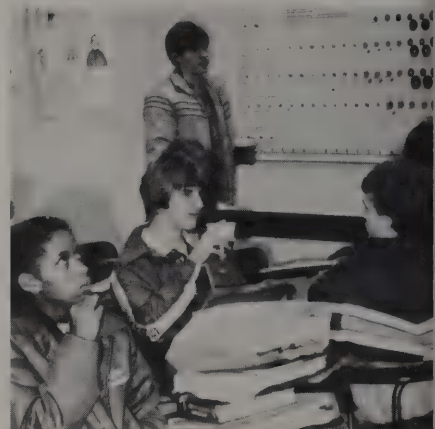

Rosie Starling, Darlene Douglas, Rhonda Odum, Sonja Jackson, and Roslyn McAlister wait to ride in the Christmas parade with the HERO club.

JETS Study Science

Several senior JETS members traveled to Robert E. Lee High School in Tyler and carried science projects which were worked on in the special topics in science class. Pam Smith won first place with her project of "The Analysis of Airborne Pollutants."

Also, the JETS had their annual carnation sale on Valentine's Day. The red carnation represented love, the white carnation represented secret admirer, and the pink and yellow carnations represented friendship.

Student Council Serves School

One of the highlights of the year was that the Student Council sponsored Spirit Week when students and faculty took part in Punk Rock Day, Bandanna Day, Red and Blue Day and Lion Day.

It was a fun-filled week that not only broke the regular school routine, but also built spirit daily reaching a climax on Friday with Homecoming festivities.

In other projects the Council performed services to the school by sponsoring Alcohol Awareness Week and the Blood Drive.

DECA is a student centered organization designed to develop leadership and civic responsibility.

DECA Develops Civic Pride

DECA, one of the job related organizations, competed in this year's Area and State contests dealing with their jobs in retailing, wholesaling, and marketing.

Along with the other vocational clubs, DECA sold fruit in the Christmas fruit sale, attended the hayride-weiner roast and the skating party. At the end of the year the club held an employer and employee banquet. They also closed the year with the annual senior trip.

Mr. Ricky Chapman fills the Thanksgiving basket with food donated by the DECA members.

VICA is an organization where students are involved in industrial and health related jobs.

Joy Gison and Beth Pannell listen attentively for instructions.

VICA Works at Jobs, Projects

VICA, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, stays busy with big projects such as preparing the football programs and working with the Christmas fruit sale.

Money earned from these projects help finance club contests and socials. This year VICA members joined other vocational clubs for a hayride and weiner roast at Mr. Joe Griffin's farm.

These students work in the Industrial Cooperative Training (ICT) program in industrial and health-related jobs.

Scott Hammett tells Susie Commons how to roast a weiner.

Language Club Sells Suckers

One thing students look forward to is the annual candy sale sponsored by the Foreign Language Club. An imported Spanish sucker for in between classes was nice during the busy school day. The club also put a little bit of Mexico into the Christmas parade with the large float decorated with paper Spanish flowers. The club also went on a trip to Dallas where they toured a tortilla factory and visited several Spanish shops.

Mrs. Claudia Vanis demonstrates how to make the tissue paper flowers that decorated the Foreign Language float in the Christmas parade.

The foreign Language Club is a group of Spanish and French students interested in the language and culture of these countries.

Hi-Life Staff Informs School

Keeping up with everybody and everything all the time is no easy job, but it's one newspaper staffers take seriously in their effort to put out a timely and interesting publication every three weeks.

The Hi-Life is a member of the Inter-scholastic League Press Conference which judges the newspaper as a whole and the individual efforts of the staffers. Trying to produce a journalistically sound publication and please the student body all at the same time takes a lot of thought and planning.

After they have survived the deadlines, they have the satisfaction of performing a needed ser vice to their school by giving out information and placing people and groups in the limelight for the rest of the student body to see.

All work and no play is no fun. Hi-Life staff members find time for both.

Staff Works to Compile a Memorable Yearbook

Deadlines, broken typewriters, out-of-focus pictures — it's a wonder (no make that miracle) that 13 people ever get a 244 page yearbook completed by March 10 so the student body can receive it in May.

It's difficult to please everybody on everything all the time, but the staff, made up of a cross-section of the student body, works hard at it.

A lot of thought, ideas, and planning have gone into this volume of the Lions Den, and the staff sincerely hopes it is as meaningful and pleasurable to you as it is to them.

Kim Spence, editor, and Vicki Browne, jr. editor, had fun making this year's Lions' Den fantastic.

Kim Griffin and Tammy Douglas make plans for the completion of the sophomore section.

"Henderson — Best Town Growing" is more than a Chamber of Commerce slogan. As new businesses come in here and others expand, it's difficult to understand the economic difficulties of cities seen on the network news.

The merchants and industries offer a wide variety of goods and services that rival the selection of any comparable town in the area. This makes trading at home easy.

A large part of the yearbook's budget comes from the following advertisers whose help keeps the price per copy of the annual reasonable. Thanks for making Henderson top of the line.

1983 Reaches End of Line

As another year comes to an end it is hard to find a way to close the book. This year has been a lot of fun and one that will not be forgotten at least by one class — the Class of '83. However this year is not only dear to the seniors but to every class.

The freshmen will always remember their first year in high school and the underclassmen can look forward to the day when they will get to become the upperclassmen. As the senior class spends its last few days here, they can recall the good and bad times. However, it has all got to stop somewhere so for the 1983 Lions Den this is the end of the line.

Hey,
 I've been fun in college
 I'm glad you were in my class even though, times
 I have been sort of mean to you. Sorry - But you at times can get on a persons nerves. I hope we can stay friends, you're a real nice guy who was a long way to go. Best luck and stay sweet.
 See ya at the Facebook game.
 Love ya,
